Union Telegraph Co., and with her sister, Mrs. R. L. Smith, will leave next Tuesday for Virginia, where they will spend the summer. Miss Margaret Woods succeeds Miss Wise.

AUTOMOBILE IN THE OCEAN.
As a punishment for its obsti-nateness Clark G. Smith, the Daytona Beach photographer last Sunday pushed his automobile into the sea, there to leave it to the mercy of the relentless tides which ebb and flow twice in twenty-four hours.
Mr. Smith had started for Mosquito Inlet to take photographs of the stranded whales. When near the approach of the Port Orange bridge the motor refused to "note" and becoming disgusted the owner of the runabout that wouldn't even run about a minute shoved it into the sea. It was afterwards taken from the ocean by a number of persons and Smith sold it for a small sum.
"BOOZE" BROUGHT BLOWS.
All because of a quarrel "booze" two colored men are in trouble.
Charlie Alexander came down on the "scursion" from Jacksonville Monday and brought some red liquor with him, which he sold to the thirsty colored gentry of Midway and Waycross. Gad Taylor, the colored "cop" at Midway, heard of the liquor and placed Charles under arrest. Charlie could not satisfactorily explain to Justice Titus how he could peddle booze and not evade the law, so he now languishes in the county jail at DeLand in default of $300 bail to await the action of the Criminal Court.
George Trent bought a quart of Alexander's booze and it made him so strong that he went home and beat his wife. He plead guilty to the charge before Mayor Seaman Tuesday morning and was fined $10 and costs.
Will Gordon, also colored, was up Monday for selling liquor, but as the testimony was contradictory Justice Titus discharged him.
Fast Ball Next Thursday.
Next Thursday two games of base ball will be played on the local diamond between Daytona and Arcadia. These two games are between the fastest amateur ball teams in the State and as the management is trying to give the public good fast ball, it is the desire that the public give its support.
Price, including both games, adult tickets 25c, children 15c, grand stand 15c. Game called at two o'clock. The Arcadia team was to have been here last Thursday but postponed its coming until next week.
Club Will Observe Fourth.
At a meeting of the Florida East Coast Automobile Association held Wednesday evening it was decided to observe the birthday of the nation by raising the new flag which the club recently purchased. Refreshments will be on tap all day and sandwiches and pickles will go with it. Members may invite any guests who are not made residents of Daytona, Seabreeze or Daytona Beach. Under the rules of the club such residents are not eligible as guests.
Four new members were elected.
The club has just expended over $1,000 in substantial improvements and is in a flourishing condition.
WANTED Second-hand bags and burlap, any kind, any quantity, anywhere, we pay freight. Richmond Bag Co., Richmond, Va.

GATHERED IN HYMEN'S FOLDS
Edward F. Oates and Miss Elizabeth Silvernail United in the Holy Bonds of Matrimony.
A very pretty home wedding occurred Monday morning at ten o'clock at the home of Mrs. M. E.
Silvernail, when her daughter, Elizabeth, and Edward F. Oates were united in the holy bonds of matrimony.
The couple stood under a bower of roses while the impressive ceremony was read by Rev. J. E. Oates, of DeLand, the father of the groom.
The bride was given away by her brother, Elmer Silvernail. R. M.
Bond acted as best man, while Mrs.
Bond very charmingly filled the position of matron of honor.
At the conclusion of the ceremony an elaborate wedding breakfast was served. Besides the immediate families of the bride and groom only a few close friends were present.
The couple left by automobile for Beresford where they took the boat for Jacksonville and from there went to Asheville, N. C., where they will spend their honeymoon, returning to Daytona about July 1.
The bride is one of Daytona's most popular young ladies, while the groom is a successful lawyer and business man.
The Gazette-News joins with legions of friends in extending congratulations.
Sun Will Hide Its Face.
According to Dr. Samuel Phelps Leland, a noted astronomer, who makes his home at Seabreeze, a week from tomorrow will occur an eclipse of the sun.
Great preparations are being made by astronomers to observe it. Seabreeze and Daytona are exactly in the middle of the path of obscuration. A sight will be presented to us, therefore, that will not occur again in seven centuries. The last shadow that touched the United States was eight years ago. The sun will not be entirely covered. There will be a rim of light around the moon, as she will lie on the face of the sun. The moon's orbit is not a circle, but is elip-tical, and a week from Sunday she will be at the furthest point from us, and being so far away she is so much reduced in size that she covers only a part of the sun's face. To the common observer, however, it will be practically a total eclipse. The shadow lasts three hours and fifty minutes, and makes a journey on the earth of more than 9,000 miles.
It will be well to have pieces of smoked glass in readiness, and when the dimness of light begins, look upon the most magnificent sight that human eyes, on this planet, can behold—an eclipse of the sun.
The eclipse will commence about 9:30 a. m.
Various Kinds of Meteors.
"Meteors" and "meteorologists" have little in common, although their origin is identical. "Meteor" meant a good many more things to Englishmen of a few generations ago than it does now, in accordance with the meaning of the Greek adjective, which signified "up in the air," so that "a meteor" "the things up in the air, meant the heavenly bodies. Winds and whirlwinds were aerial meteors formerly in English, clouds, snow and rain were aqueous meteors, and among luminous meteors were reckoned rainbows and twilight. Meteorology preserves the memory of all this, but the word "meteor" has gone over altogether to the astron-omer's sphere.
Infinitesimal Shears.
A clever workman in a cutlery factory in Sheffield, England, made a dozen pairs of shears, each so minute that they altogether weigh less than half a grain. That is about the weight of a postage stamp. Each pair is perfect and will cut it sufficiently delicate material could be found. Lying on a piece of white paper they seem no larger than fleas.

FIRES AGAIN BURN AT THE OLD MILL.
The Smoke goes Up the Chimney the Same as It Did in Years Gone By.—Activity Reigns.
Wherever hands have hacked and hued, Then left the spot for nature to regain,
It lapses back into a solitude Profounder than primeval wood or plain After lying idle for fully thirty-five or more years, during which time the vats became filled with earth and trees grew from sprouts to young giants of the forests, the old Dun Lawton sugar mill near Port Orange, is again the scene of activity and smoke is pouring from its chimney as in days of yore.
Tuesday the vats were cleaned out, and fires built in the furnace and ever since workmen have been busy trying to whale oil from four of the whales which stranded on the beach near Mosquito Inlet last Saturday night.
When activities at the old ruins commenced, scorpions, lizards, and snakes scurried from haunts unmolested for many years, and as the smoke rose from the mammoth chimney one could not but think of the many pages of history, written and unwritten, that had transpired since the erection of the ancient walls.
The Dun Lawton sugar mill is one of the points of interest about this vicinity. History and tradition tell different stories as to the origin of this landmark. Tradition says it was built away back in the days of Andrew Turnbull, somewhere about 1765.
According to William Jackson, who is probably as well posted on local ancient history as any man in this vicinity, what is known as the Dun Lawton sugar plantation, was first cultivated about 1835, but that the present mill was not built until 1848.
Thirty-five years ago Mr. Jackson saw syrup boiling in these vats, since which time they have been idle.
Many persons are inclined to believe that a person by the name of Dun Lawton at one time owned the mill. This, however, Mr. Jackson says is erroneous. He accounts for the origin of the name in this way: A family by the name of Lawton, living at Charleston, S. C., was heavily engaged in cotton and sugar culture and was advancing money to growers all over the south.
The growers in this vicinity, it seems, were raising more disturbance than sugar, and after repeatedly advancing money to the owner of what is now the Dun Lawton sugar mill and getting no results, the wife of the owner jestingly told her husband one day that he had better change the name of the mill to "Dun Lawton," as they were repeatedly calling upon Lawton for money.
Press For Sale.
The Gazette-News has bought a new press and to make room for it desires to sell a Campbell cylinder press in good condition. Any publisher of a weekly newspaper in need of a press can have it. No reasonable offer will be refused, as we need the room.
Phone 28 and we will call for your cleaning and pressing. All work done by white workmen exclusively. O. S. Burnett, Tailor.
